

My dear Miss Weston

I return these rich volumes of Autographs with my thanks for the pleasure I have enjoyed in seeing them so leisurely and becoming acquainted with the sentiments as well as the hand-writing of many illustrious men.

If the committee of superintendance should incline to divide the separate autographs - will you offer them twenty five dollars for the following -

From the plaid-covered volume those of
J. L. W. Herschel Adam Clarke (a note)
Eucke. Lord Nugent.
Dumas. Sligo - (a note)
Jac. Bezelius letter Ed. Quincy - (a letter)
Baron Cuvier.
Rich^d. Lovell Edgeworth
W. J. Hooker. / letter /
W. Carleton / letter /

Some D. Maddens volume.

Countess of Blessington. a note

Mr Beattie, a letter

Julien - a note.

Some Irish Autographs No 1.

Sir John Newport.

Rich. Lahn Shiel

Duke of Wellington. a letter.

Charles Wolfe.

Some Irish Autographs No 3.

George Fox.

Plunket. a note.

D. Currie -

22 in all. -

If they should accept my proposal for these autographs, I must ask the favour of copying from the volumes the notices of the individuals - often written on the opposite page to that containing the autograph itself. -

I also thank you most kindly my dear Miss Weston, for your own little box of treasures. I hope you will not think my acquisitions boundless when I confess to the abstracting of four Mrs Dry's - three Father Mathew's, and Queen Adelaide's - for these I enclose three dollars for "the good cause" - and I will accept the very pretty view of Mrs Hall's Rosary as your own special gift with many thanks. Such a blooming cottage seems naturally to associate itself with such bright spirits as you own. -

If you think I have undervalued the dowry Queen in this arrangement, I will return her to you for some more loyal competitor -

with kind regards

Yours P. M. Mould.
